

Report Card/Conference Update: You should have already received notification of your conference time. We are trying something different in order to hopefully allow you to maximize your conference time –since we have had so little time together! Homeroom teachers will email report cards home today or tomorrow. Most will email today but I have a few teachers out sick so it may be tomorrow before you receive the report card. That will allow you time to review and prepare for your conference.

Families participating in virtual conferences will also receive their zoom link today or tomorrow.

We are looking forward to spending this time together!

Are you ready set up to shop for scrip online? This is an easy, contactless way to support the school. If you sign up for an account and link it to your bank, you will have immediate access to a variety of electronic gift cards. Some of the vendors you might enjoy using from home are Amazon, Apple/iTunes Barnes & Noble and Target.

If you take it a step further and use the new Raise Right app, you will soon be able to order gift cards and have them shipped to your home for a small fee. Look for more information on that once the program starts.
